

Attendees demographics and event metrics

"The online virtual event performed exactly according to our plan. We are delighted with this year's Forum's outcome, despite the challenges COVID-19 has presented. The success of the Forum this year highlights once again that the circular bioeconomy is a vital tool in the mitigation of climate change."

Prof. Mark Rudnicki, Ph.D., Michigan Technological University

Four dedicated sessions

"The rich contributions in the strategy and policy session of the Forum 2020 have scientifically, economically and politically shown, that forestry based biomass and its carbon will be the strongest drivers for a successful bioeconomy to respond to climate and global challenges, which in itself will become drivers for a global bioeconomy. COVID-19 has sharpened our eyes to recognize that."

2020 Awards

For the first time since the World Bioeconomy Forum was formed three years ago, three awards categories were presented: The Bioproduct of the Year, the Bio Person of the year and the Bio Act of the year.

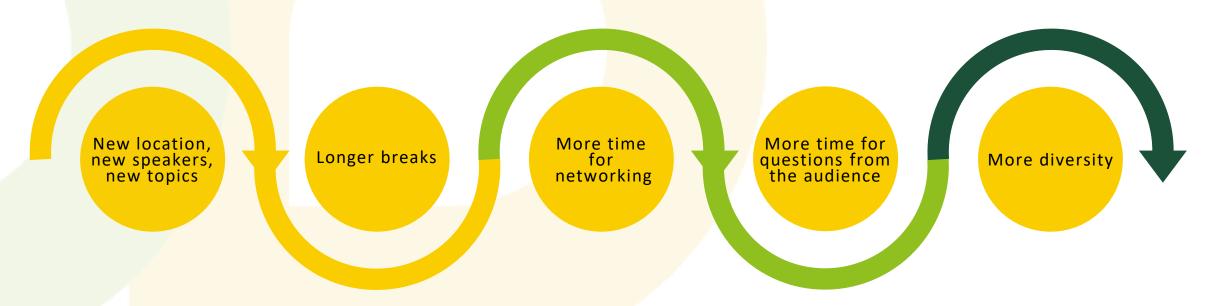

Towards World BioEconomy Forum 2021

We are always looking for ways to improve the event and make it more relevant and engaging for the people attending. Our feedback survey has received a lot of replies so far, and we appreciate all the comments we have received. We are analysing them carefully and will take them into account in the planning of the next season.

- → Webinars to be held during the season
- → Location of the forum 2021 will be announced soon
